Student Book Arts Competition Winner

Jacob Wan artist's book, Leaves, is the winner of the UCF Libraries Special Collections & University Archives Department's 13th Annual Student Book Arts Competition. The book is constructed of handmade paper, vellum paper, and stitches. From Mr. Wan's artist statement: "Leaves is a book about the longing of nostalgia; the connection and disconnection, the familiar and unfamiliar, the similarity and difference between the reality and memories. What I remember the most is spending my summer holiday with my cousins, and I believe the implication behind it is the idea of lost childhood." The book will be added to the department's Book Arts & Typography Collection. Congratulations to Jacob Wan!

UCF Celebrates the Arts: "13 Years of UCF Student Designed Artists' Books"

As part of this year's UCF Celebrates the Arts, the Special Collections & University Archives Department is exhibiting all past and present winning entries from the department's annual book arts competition. The exhibit, UCF Student Book Arts Competition: 13 Years of UCF Student Designed Artists' Books, showcases thirteen years of student designed artists' books. Artists' books are works of art that use the structure or function of a book or book-like objects. While most artists' books are published in limited editions, the works featured in this exhibit are one-of-a-kind objects.

The annual competition, open to all UCF undergraduate and graduate students, encourages students to explore the world of artists' books by creating their own works. Each year's winning entry is added to Special Collections & University Archives' Book Arts & Typography Collection.
